IT'S A PATRIOTIC MONTH

Abraham Lincoln: Second Inaugural Address

On March 4, 1865, approaching the end of a time of deep political divide in our nation, President Lincoln delivered his second inaugural address now entitled "To Bind Up The Nation's Wounds." At this critical point in history, slavery and the Confederacy were about to be defeated. Instead of rejoicing in victory, Lincoln's address had notes of remorse over our dear United States getting to this point. He urged not for justice but for healing and understanding, while still adamantly and completely rejecting slavery. His most famous quote from this piece, based on Psalm 147:3, may be applicable to our somewhat divided country today "With Malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds."

Hear a full presentation about that address, fervently portrayed by Fritz Klein, an acclaimed Lincoln impersonator, at the Meet & Greet President Lincoln Social (see page 1).

HISTORY IN THE HOME

Egg Coffee - A Sip of the Past

While the origin or history of this delicious brew appears debatable, its mild, non-bitter flavor is not. It is clearly in appearance and flavor worth the little effort needed. Do not hesitate to include the whole egg, shells and all, brew and enjoy with a dollop of lightly sweetened whipped cream. Close your eyes and revel in the fragrance and taste of the past, maybe with a piece of Belgian pie.

What you will need:

course ground coffee, 1 egg, shell included, water, and a dollop of whipping cream

Fill up your stove top coffee pot (or saucepan) with approximately 6 cups of water (or however many cups of coffee you will be drinking). Set your pot full of water on the stove to boil. Next, crack the egg in small bowl or glass, shells included. Then add a little water, about 2 teaspoons or so. Stir together with the egg until it's completely mixed. Put your coffee grounds in a bowl (about 1 tablespoon of coffee grounds for 1 cup of coffee, more or less depending on your strength preference) and pour some, not all, of the egg mixture over the grounds. Mix together until all the coffee grounds are wet and feel right. When the water reaches a boil, dump in your grounds/egg mixture. Turn off the heat and stir vigorously. Let sit for 4-6 minutes. After boiling, the egg mixture should sink to the bottom of the pan with the grounds after a few minutes. If not, add a tablespoon or two of ice cold water. Strain your first cup through a coffee strainer to ensure the grounds are at the bottom. No grounds were found = success!

Home School Testimony

To the wonderful staff at Heritage Hill State Park:

As a mother to two children, ages 6 and 7, I wanted to take a moment to thank you for the wonderful Homeschooling programs that you offer. Experiential learning is such a valuable way for kids to learn, and Heritage Hill provides us with many opportunities to experience "living history" in a beautiful setting! We have loved every visit, and our children look forward to something new and exciting each time! We were recently learning about Caddie Woodlawn in my daughter's history curriculum and your program and activities about her brought her to life for us. It couldn't have been timed better! We also were so excited to hear about your new Homeschool Master Gardening Program! We signed up immediately and our children have been inquiring weekly about when we can return for the next one.

It is so valuable for them to have these hands-on experiences with others in the community and our children enjoyed the chance to be paired up with their own master gardener for each session. We really appreciate the opportunity as homeschoolers to supplement our curriculum with your wonderful, affordable programs. We look forward to many future visits and the fun and educational opportunities that await us on each one.

Sincerely, Tara Walker, Appleton WI

June 14: Fire and Fun in a Small Town - Meet the town's blacksmith, and watch him twist red-hot iron. Help the volunteer fire department put out a "fire" before playing historic games and making a special toy to take home.

July 19: Bienvenue a La Baye - Explore a time when Wisconsin was La Baye and many locals were fur traders. See and taste popcorn popped over an open fire, tour the fur trade cabin, play Native American games, and sing voyageur songs.

August 23: World War I - It's been 100 years since the United States entered World War I. Learn about some unique soldiers who served in World War I, the importance of camouflage, study some literature, learn what life was like during the war, and more!

The Unseen Preservationist

Damp conditions are one of the biggest enemies of a preservation carpenter or curator. They are constantly on the alert for wood rot, mold, mildew and electrical failures that destroy precious artifacts. Preservation of 28 structures is a chief and never ending task at Heritage Hill.

We are working on 4 buildings this year that have damp conditions within the basement crawl spaces. The Cheese Factory, Detached Fort Kitchen, Fur Trade Cabin and Library and all original historic structures are being addressed this year. Remediation includes sump wells, insulating over dirt floors or concrete slabs under several buildings, replacing vapor barriers, replacing insulation between the floor joists, installation of dehumidifiers and addition of designated GFI circuits. While the work is unseen, it keeps these historic treasures in tip top shape and secure for years to come.
